WATER AT COLUMBUS CON.

Last week the Columbus Consolidated at Alta in a drift to the east uncovered some pretty nice ore, according to a report circulating this morning. Then on Saturday one of the drifts opened up a water channel and considerable difficulty was experienced in stopping the flow. Whether or not this is the same water that was bulkheaded on the 400 in the east drift is a question and there seems to be no definite word as to the amount encountered. Manager Tony Jacobson and Secretary Snow are both at the mine investigating conditions: Last week the Columbus Consolidat mine investigating conditions productive of excellent results in Alta has been the opinion expressed by local mining men for some time and steps are reported to have been taken towards the consolidation of some of the properties in the camp with the view of organizing a big company to work the entire camp at depth.

CONSOLIDATION FOR ALTA PROPERTIES

Big Merger Rumored to be on Foot For That Camp.

The presence of water and the diffi-culty of deep mining have been serious obstacles in the progress of the camp. But few companies have had enough financial bricking to prospect extensive-ly and now the idea seems to be that if all join hands and form a big merg-ly and now the idea seems to be that if all join hands and form a big merger that capital is ready to enter and finance the undertaking.

Such a consolidation with the right kind of backing for large operations ought to find Alta a field which would be right for that kind of an undertaking. Opinion seems to vary as to the proper method of procedure. Those interested on the Big Cottonwood side claim that the proper place to drive a tunnel to exploit the camp would be at Silver Fork, both as to the economy of transportation and for drainage. That contingent holds that such a tunnel would be the only logical way to enter, as it would be in the ore zone practically all of the way and would hit the lime beds at such an angle that it would be the best method of prospecting besides draining. This tunnel is about 800 feet deeper than the Columbus Consolidated, and about 400 feet lower than the deepest workings of the Columbus. Fifty feet either side of this site it is claimed that snowslides would interfere so that this is the proper location for a long tunnel.

The other proposed tunnel is that owned by the Superior Alta and which was originally started to drain the Columbus Consolidated. This is at Hol-owned by the Superior Alta and which was originally started to dusin the Columbus Consolidated. This is at Holly Flat, a short distance below the town, and its length would be about the same as that from Silver Fork. Either would cost about $150,000.

With these two propositions under way there seems to be some prospect of a merger in the camp. The site at Silver Fork is owned largely by Cripple Creek people who are said to be due here this week. This fact in connection with the recent visit of a prominent here this week. This fact in connection with the recent visit of a prominent castern broker may have some significance. One reported consolidation is that of the Continental-Alta, Chy Rocks, Copper Prince, Alta Hecla and South Columbus. This same report says that the men back of the consolidation have offered a cash price for the Columbus Fyt, and were refused; that an umbus Ext., and were refused; that an option has been given for part cash and for part stock for the townsite at Alta and that the Centennial Emma is under option for eash. These would form a large holding company. This same re-port intimates that the Utah Mines Coalition is essential to such a plan on account of its location and showing, on account of its location and showing, and that the tunnel sites and some other properties are tied up and waiting information from the east pending developments there before announcing any plans, the course of the purchased outright the South Heela purchased outright the South Columbus and the Alta Heela. This gave them 550 acres of ground on the south side of the eanyon at Alta. This company has only 200,000 shares issued and 300,000 in the treasury. The same interests control this that control same interests control this that control same interests control this that control the City Rocks, Continental Alta and some other grounds. By taking over these properties and some under option, they would have 1,500 acres and with the proper financial backing could do some extensive mining. It is said that it is the intention of this company to have 200,000 shares underwritten at to have 200,000 shares underwritten at $5, thus giving them a million dollars for development and to absorb such other companies as they saw fit. Fur-ther, the word comes that there are eastern firms that have consented to do the underwriting and that the neces-sary provision has been made for a tunnel site on the Alta side since it would run along with the main fissures and give excellent drainage. This tun-nel would run approximately east in the same direction as the Grizzly dike and would cut the cross fissures that inter-sect the main fissure system. The Flag-staff has been reorganized; and it is possible that they may get into the nerger. In the meantime word is said to be bound to reach the city soon an-nouncing the completion and financing of a big consolidation in the camp.

HERE FROM MARYSYVALE

Jacob W. Young, who is here from Marysvale with a shipment from the Bully Boy, on which he has a lease to-gether with other parties, speaks very gether with other parties, speaks very well of that camp. He says that they are arranging to build a concentrator and are rushing the work as fast as possible. On the DeWitt vein they ex-pect to have about 200 feet of stoping ground when the tunnel gets into its objective point. The Cuscade is report-ed to be pushing development as is the Mongree and the Florence. The Sham-Monroe and the Florence. The Sham rock recently made a strike on the Taft

Professional operators could not obtain a following in trying to move prices one way or the other and soon abandoned their efforts, causing the market to fall into a rut. The undertone was heavy however.

The market's irregular tone became more pronounced in the second hour, with especial weakness in the active issues. Aside from rumors of possible price cutting by the steel manuracturers, who are his ession here today, none was heard to account for the setback in prices. The market as a whole, however, was so professional as to make it more than ordinarily susceptible to passing gossip. The Gould lines' stocks registered several declines. Further liquidation forced prices down during the noon hour, the lower levels disclosing stop-loss orders which facilitated the decline. Buil operators seemed discouraged at the indifference shown by substantial interests and the bears made the most of the current comment on the general industrial situation. As for a long time back, speculation centered around United States Steel, Reading and Union Pacific and when these stocks broke the whole market went down violently. Reading, Union Pacific and Lehigh Valley showed losses of 3 points, American Smelling 24, Utah Copper 24, United States Steel and Inter-Metropolitan preferred 2 and Chesapeake & Ohlo and Rock Island 2.

The selling movement seemed to have run itself out after Amalgamated Copper had been hammered down 24, but the subsequent rally did not amount to much, trading becoming lifeless when small fractional recoveries had been made.

GRAZING REDUCED ON MANTI FOREST

Secretary Wilson Issues Restriction Orders for Utah Reserve.

CONDITIONS ARE SERIOUS

Towns in Sanpete Flooded and Damaged as Result of Too Heavy Grazing-Notice of Reward.

In consequence of the conclusive evidence which has been laid before the secretary of agriculture of injury to agricultural and other interests through too heavy grazing of certain watersheds in the Manti national forest, in Utah, Secy. Wilson has cut down the amount of stock which will be allowed to graze on this forest next year to 16,500 head of cattle and horses and 155,000 head of sheep. This is a reduction of 3,000 in the number of cattle and horses, and 27,000 in the num-the and horses, and 27,000 in the number of sheep.

There has been great apprehension among the farmers and townspeople who live along the streams fed from these watersheds, lest overgrazing should seriously jeopardize their interests. This apprehension was based on the actual experience of the past. Reports which have been submitted to Seey. Wilson by officers of the department show that unrestricted grazing before the Manti national forest was created had very serious results. The range was badly overcrowded and abused, with the result that the natural covering of vegetation was largely deabused, with the result that the natural covering of vegetation was largely destroyed, the soll was loosened, and conditions favorable to rapid crosion were created. The high slopes began to guily so that when the heavy rainstorms broke upon the mountains the canyons poured down mud-laden streams upon the towns and farms.

With these flood-streams were carried down heavy boulders, logs, and

With these flood-streams were carried down heavy boutders, logs, and driftwood. Not only was standing grain washed down and fields covered with piles of gravel and other debris, but streets and lawns were overflowed with water which on its retreat left behind it a thick layer of offensive sediment. Water supplies for domestic use were contaminated from the presence of stock on the watersheds as well as from the soil wash. The towns of Ephraim, Mount Pleasant, Huntington. from the soil wash. The towns of Ephraim: Mount Pleasant, Huntington. Orangeville, Ferron and Salina were severe sufferers, while the city of Manti, which is located directly at the mouth of the canyon and close to the base of the hills, suffered damage, including depreciation of property, between 1896 and 1902 estimated at from $75,000 to $125,000.

CONDITIONS SERIOUS.

CONDITIONS SERIOUS.

Last spring Chief Forester Graves visited Ephraim and was impressed by the seriousness of the conditions on the Manti forest. The prohibition of grazing in the Manti canyon in 1903 had apparently contributed to the great reduction of damage by floods to the city of Manti. To ascertain whether by a modification of the grazing now permitted the same protection might be given to Ephraim and other towns he ordered an investigation, the outcome of which is the reduction now made.

forest surface conditions are far from satisfactory, and that some areas have reached a point at which erosion will become more and more serious if the vegetation is not given a chance to return. It is now evident to Secy. Wilson that the national forest officers, in their desire not to curtail use of the range by stockmen any further than was made absolutely necessary, have been too liberal in their recommendations as to the amount of satisfactory, and that some areas have recommendations as to the amount of grazing to be permitted. BENEFITS OF RESTRICTION.

The experience in Manti canyon is believed to indicate that the proper re-striction of grazing will diminish the volume of flood waters, reduce the annual property loss, and add to the general prospertly of the country. It has consequently been decided to restrict grazing upon the areas surrounding the grazing upon the areas surrounding the headwaters of the various streams, by setting aside a strip approximately two niles in width from which stock will be excluded except for limited periods. In order to take this step it has been necessary to reduce the total number of stock grazed upon the forest, and while the reduction will entail some apparaisance. embarrassment and inconvenience to number of stock growers, its general result is expected to be of so great benefit to the community as a whole that Secretary Wilson considers no othcourse is open but to make the re-
